ideestortepaper

Ideestortepaper is a Sicilian publishing house. We like illustrated books and illustrations. We persist in our belief that books make the humans who read them better. We love the stories that call to us and the images that make them possible.

We are small but prolific. In 2026 we will publish 12 new authors: Micol Artom (Italy), Camilla Albertini (Italy), Alessio Carollo (Italy), Daniela Vitale (Italy), Siqi Zhang (China), Pina Irace (Italy), Angela Salerno (Argentina), Thomas Pondrelli (Italy), Roberta Mora (Italy), Elena Pennelli (Italy), Cristina Perrotti (Italy).

THE LITTLE PRINCE

From the masterpiece by Antoine de Saint Exupéry
Illustrations © Siqi Zhang Texts © ideastortepaper

The Little Prince returns in a completely new illustrated edition, entrusted to the vision of a Chinese author who reinterprets Antoine de Saint-Exupéry's masterpiece through a visual sensibility that is far from the original iconography, but deeply faithful to the spirit of the text.

The Big Ride

Texts: Micol Artom Illustrations: Camilla Albertini

This story travels slowly, but it goes far. It is the tale of an extraordinary adventure (cycling from London to Tokyo) told through the intimate voice of a father who, at night, guides his son through the memory of a great love. But The Big Ride is more than a geographical journey: it is a story about memory, about the pain of absence, and about the invisible inheritance that remains. It is a story of courage without rhetoric, of grief without darkness, of love that keeps pedaling even when it seems to have stopped.

2026

One day, in the heart of a city, a wall is built. No one knows who planted the first seed: perhaps fear, perhaps suspicion. As happens in today's world — between armed borders, divided cities and wars that separate neighbouring peoples, from the two Koreas to Russia and Ukraine — here too the wall grows until it divides everything: streets, voices, even the sky. But a flower finds a crack and opens a passage, reminding us that every wall can fall.

Three curious children discover a mysterious submarine hidden beneath the waves: the Nautilus. Aboard awaits Captain Nemo, an enigmatic man who knows the secrets of the sea. Thus begins an extraordinary journey into the depths: forests of seaweed, submerged cities, luminous creatures and unexpected dangers. Between wonder and courage, the young explorers learn that the ocean is an immense world, where every depth holds a story to be discovered.

NEWS

The Knight Filiberto is a fairy tale turned upside down: ironic, luminous, stubbornly peaceful. A gentle hymn to the courage not to fight, to the unarmed strength of kindness, to the silent revolution of "please". A story that smiles as it dismantles the classical epic, and does so with a delicacy that makes more noise than a thousand swords.

Beasty ideas

Texts: Cristina Perrotti Illustrations: Elena Pennelli

Driven by the risk of extinction, 12 enterprising animals present us with 12 intelligent solutions to solve the problems of the current geological era that some experts would like to call the 'Anthropocene'. Accompanied by as many children, it is they who, in a humorous way, show us the way to restore balance and harmony in this turmoil caused mainly by man. To satisfy all curiosity, 12 factsheets with the reasons behind the 'beasty' ideas.

On their way home, the flamingos encountered an armadillo that had come down to drink at the stream. Upon hearing of their mission, the armadillo decided to play a joke on them and said:
 "The one, my sister-in-law, will surely have what you are looking for!"
 The flamingos thanked him and flew to the one's nest.

When they danced, everyone envied the flamingos' splendid stockings, and the snakes wanted to dance only with them. They danced so much that no one could figure out what those stockings were made of.

At the time of animal dances, flamingos dream of shining like coral snakes. Deceived by a cruel joke, they wear forbidden stockings and dance until they drop. The punishment is fierce and poetic: thus the pink colour of their legs is born. A bitter fairy tale by Horacio Quiroga, where vanity and desire bite.

A little girl is born with a volcano in her tummy: incandescent emotions that erupt in words, dreams and stories. Doctors and adults try to stop her, but the volcano does not ask for permission. Over time, the little girl learns to listen to that force and transform it into imagination, desire and wonder. A poetic story about the energy of children, about sensitivity and the courage to embrace what burns inside us.

I had a hat

Texts: Valentina Mansone Illustrations: Rosalba Corrao

2025

A child receives a colourful hat as a gift from his parents. It is more than just an accessory: with that hat he feels invincible, ready to take on any adventure, whether in the park or at school. But one day, a thunderstorm tears it off and the wind carries it far away. The child looks for it everywhere, without success, until he finds it by chance, battered and unrecognisable. A poetic album about the ability to reinvent and transform loss into new possibilities, with a curious look towards the future.
